

Helene Fenlon has worked in Arizona for over thirty years and has been an AV® preeminent rated lawyer since 2001. In 2011 she was selected for the inaugural edition of the Bar Register of Preeminent Women Lawyers™. Ms. Fenlon has significant experience in all aspects of negotiation, mediation, arbitration and litigation, including probate and trust disputes, breach of fiduciary duty cases, guardianship and conservatorship matters, financial exploitation disputes and fraud.

Since 2007 Ms. Fenlon has managed her own law firm in Scottsdale, Arizona. Her clients include national charities, corporate trustees, families, and individuals. Ms. Fenlon is passionate about advocating for her clients in probate and trust litigation, high conflict administrations, and contested guardianship and conservatorship matters (including breach of fiduciary duty, undue influence, lack of testamentary capacity and financial exploitation claims). Previously, she was a shareholder with a large regional law firm in Phoenix.

Ms. Fenlon is a graduate of the Georgetown University School of Foreign Service, Thunderbird School of Global Management and the Sandra Day O'Connor College of Law at Arizona State University. She is also a graduate of Scottsdale Leadership, Class 19.

Before going to law school Ms. Fenlon worked as a bank examiner for the Federal Reserve and as a budget analyst for a large financial institution. Currently, Ms. Fenlon serves as a member of the board of directors for Scottsdale Training and Rehabilitation Services (STARS) and as a member of the Saint Mary's Food Bank Alliance's Planned Giving Advisory Committee. She is a past President of the Scottsdale Bar Association, and the 2014 recipient of the Scottsdale Bar Association's Award of Excellence. She served two terms as a Commissioner with the Maricopa County Commission on Trial Court Appointments. Ms. Fenlon is also a current member of the Thurgood Marshall Inn of Court and the Central Arizona Estate Planning Council. She previously served on the Board of Directors and as an officer of Phoenix Theatre and Ballet Arizona.
